WEEKLY BAZOO.

SEDALIA, MO.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1883.

BAZOO BUZZ.

—S. G. Needles for sewing machines.
—Blank books at McClellan's.
—Buy your groceries at West's.
—New Stillwell hams at Phipps & Co. 1-20d-lm.

—It is estimated that 20,000 tons of ice have been put up by our dealers this season. The most ever put up in one season heretofore was 5,000 tons.

—In the Clinton Advocate of Friday, in speaking of the burning of Stevens' meat stores, the caption of article was "A fearful fire in the future Capital."

—A party of rabbit killers, composed of James Russell, George McLean and R. Olmstead, killed 95 of the long jumpers Thursday and 70 Friday, while out hunting.

—The fire plug at the corner of Third and Massachusetts streets was thawed out, last evening about 6 o'clock, and later in the night the pipe at that point burst, causing the whole neighborhood to be flooded. At midnight a large stream of water was still flowing, with no probability of a let up.

—The snow which fell yesterday morning put the streets in excellent condition for sleighing and an unusual amount of rig was out in the evening. The small boy was as near heaven as he cared to get. Many were the tumbles and upsets, but they only seemed to add spice to the occasion.

—A coon, carrying an armory sufficient to entitle him to an honorable position in the United States artillery service, while attempting to place the Missouri Pacific Bar in a state of siege yesterday, was speedily disarmed by Ben Bartlett, the energetic bar-tender, who declared that the war was over. Ben exhibits the immense gun as a trophy.

—As will be seen by advertisement elsewhere, Babe Mills will make his bow to the citizens of Sedalia to-morrow with the mobster line of hats and caps ever placed on exhibition in the west. He has had valuable experience in that line of business, is popular and accommodating, and success will certainly prove his portion. Call and see him, at Stark's old music stand, on Ohio street.

—There were two rattles at the Missouri Pacific Bar last evening. The first was for a handsome silver lantern valued at $10, and was won by Mr. Jeff Connors on a throw of 42, there being twenty chances at fifty cents each. The second was for an elegant wax cross, twenty-five chances at 50 cents each. In this contest Mr. W. F. Bartlett was the successful competitor, throwing 43.

—There was a very pleasant little party at the residence of Mr. Frank Kell, in West Sedalia, Monday evening. The following ladies and gentlemen were in attendance: The Misses Burke, Miss Coburn, the Misses Quinn, Misses Collins and Corey, Messrs. Weeks, Elliott, Lowe, Shaw, Bartlett, Burke, Rollins and West. Excellent music was furnished by the well known Sedalia trio.

PRELIMINARY SKIRMISHING!

Has been the rule up to date, but now the fight begins in earnest. During the next ten days, commencing Monday, February 12, we shall offer inducements to buyers never before heard of. Every department must be lowered. A grand scoop in all Winter Goods. Call this week and look through the

WHAT

The Paper Published for the People Now on Earth Would Like to Know.

—When the "brass finisher" in the K & T. shops is going to have his hair cut?
—If S. B. Sturtevant didn't get a little the worst of it, yesterday, when he upset his sleigh in trying to throw a kid from his seat?

—If there is a lady in town who can sit down more easily and gracefully, when the occasion demands it, than Mrs. McNulty did yesterday when she was coming up Ohio street?

—If it wasn't kind of mean for Policeman Smith and ex-Constable Barnett to laugh when the lady fell into Conductor Jim Fleming's arms, at the First National Bank corner, last night?

University Lecture Course.

Dr. Fackler will deliver the next lecture in the course, next Thursday evening, at the First Presbyterian church. Subject, "The Yosemite." Doctor Fackler spent several years on the Pacific coast. He spent some time visiting the wonderful Yosemite, and in his lecture gives a graphic description of its grandeur and beauty.

Horsford's Acid Phosphates

Remove the uncomfortable feeling sometimes experienced after excessive smoking or chewing.

The New Five-Cent Piece.

The coinage of the new five-cent piece has begun at the Philadelphia mint, and a few of the new coins are already in circulation. The treasury department was not satisfied with the five-cent piece now in circulation, and at the session of congress last year authority was given for the coinage of a new piece. Col. A. L. Snowden, of the Philadelphia mint, prepared the piece. The new piece is an improvement. The old piece was near the three-cent piece in size. The size of the new piece is between a three-cent, and that of a twenty-cent piece. The new coin is of the same weight as the old, and of the same alloy, the proportion being 25 of nickel and 75 of copper. The coinage of the old piece is to be stopped.

SCRIPTO, N. Y., Dec. 1, 1879.

I am the pastor of the Baptist church here, and an educated physician. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician, and advise in many chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop Bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years. She has become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them.

REV. E. R. WARREN.

Married.

At 4:30 o'clock, yesterday afternoon, Judge Chas. McClung, at his office, united in marriage Mr. Harpel Furman and Miss Rachel Dantzig. The parties are both Russian refugees, Jews, and were unable to speak a word of English, and in consequence Mr. M. Henoch was called upon to act as interpreter.

SHILOH'S COUGH and Consumption Cure is sold by us on a guarantee. It cures consumption. For sale by Bard & Miller.

False Report.

The report was in circulation on the streets yesterday to the effect that the well known mule buying firm of Johnson & McPike, of St. Louis, had suspended, and that Price & Stevens would lose $2,500 and Hinsdale & Menifee about $8,000. A BAZOO reporter set out to see what there was in the report, and soon found Mr. Thos. B. Price, who said there was simply nothing in the rumor. His firm, as well as that of Hinsdale & Menifee, had sold I. N. Schooler, Johnson & McPike's buyer, each a large lot of mules on short time; the market happened to be dull and the St. Louis dealers have not realized as soon as they anticipated, and had merely asked their creditors for an extension of time for a few days. "No, sir," remarked Mr. Price, "you can state that the firm of Johnson & McPike is as solid as the Bank of England."

"Rough on Rats."

Cleats out rats, mice, roaches, flies, ants, bed-bugs, skunks, chipmunks, gophers. 15c. Druggists.

—The days of cyclones and wind storms are near at hand. Make yourself secure in time by insuring your property against the destructive elements. Policies issued in the Home, Niagara and Glens Falls Insurance companies, of New York, by Carpenter & Rider, general insurance agents. Office, northeast corner of Main and Ohio streets, over D. H. Smith's hardware store, Sedalia, Mo.

Glenn's Sulphur Soap is the most reliable purifier of the skin in the market. Pike's Toothache Drops cure in one minute.

UNIVERSITY NOTES.

—Mr. D. W. Majors, a former student of Prof. Stahl's, at present teaching school, will be in the University soon.

—Three new students have entered the University this week, the Curtis Bros., of Nevada, and George Jackson, of Bates county.

—Mr. A. Goodnight, a graduate of the Seminary class of 1882, paid us a visit Friday. We gladly welcome all our old friends.

—Dr. J. G. Fackler will lecture here, as one of the University lecturers, Thursday next, the 15th. Subject, the "Yosemite Valley and its Wonders."

—Mr. Wm. Moon, of Clinton, a brother of the Moon brothers attending the University, called Monday. He was in the city attending the Knights Templar banquet.

CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH and Bronchitis immediately relieved by Shiloh's Cure. For sale by Bard & Miller.

SLICK SHORES.

The Maneuvers of the Only Professional Masher Ever in Sedalia.

Chas. H. Shores was a foppish, dapper little fellow, who, up to last March, held the position of salesman in the wholesale boot and shoe house of W. S. Mackey. Shores was a married man, but was nevertheless a "masher" of the first water. During his stay here, which was for about one year, he and his wife lived in the Staley house on Jefferson street. Notwithstanding the fact that all of the furniture and household goods belonging to Shores would not bring twenty dollars in a second-hand store, he always appeared in the most fashionable attire and was scrupulously neat and clean in his person. His wife neglected her own toilet to gratify the foppish tastes of her husband, who could really lay some claims to good looks. More than this, his wife would even chop the wood, in order that the lily white hands of her husband might not be soiled by such rough work.

As before stated, Shores was always on dress parade and ever on the alert for a mash, and was known to have engaged in a number of liaisons while here. One was with a rather notorious woman of the town whom he actually managed to place in possession of one of his wife's best dresses.

Another of Shores' mashes was on a certain well known widow of Sedalia, who is well related, and with whom he had made arrangements to elope. She was well acquainted with the fact that he was married and that his wife resided in this city, but so infatuated did she become with him that she offered her little farm for sale, to raise money with which to flee with her captivator. One of her letters was intercepted, however, and the little scheme was ended.

The minute Mr. Mackey learned the true character of his employee he gave him his walking papers. He got his discharge at a time when he was dead broke—but he was always in that condition, owing to his habits—and he borrowed money here to take him to St. Louis, where he had hopes of a job with his old employers, the proprietors of the "Famous." He promised his wife upon his departure to send her money at once, with which she must join him at St. Louis. He was gone two weeks before he even wrote to his wife, and then he did not enclose her a cent, but instructed her to break up housekeeping and go to a certain hotel to board, and he would soon send her money. She went to the hotel, but receiving nothing from him, after some weeks she sold a shawl to raise money to pay her fare to St. Louis, and left her trunks as security for her bill. The landlord still has possession of the trunks.

The following from the Globe-Democrat of yesterday tells the story of Shores' operations after arriving at St. Louis:

Charles H. Shores, formerly a clerk in the shoe department of the Famous, mysteriously disappeared shortly after Christmas, leaving a wife and two children at 1506 Morgan street. Before departing he borrowed an overcoat, a gold watch and $500 from his fellow-salesmen. Mrs. Shores and the creditors have inquired diligently, but nothing was heard of him until a few days ago, when it was learned he had married Miss Mary Craig, who taught a private school at Olive street and Channing avenue, and immediately left the city. The marriage ceremony was performed December 27 by a Catholic priest. On Tuesday a letter was received from New Orleans saying Shores and Miss Craig were there, and that he was employed with the Fairbanks Oil and Lard company. The friends of Miss Craig say she was respected by every one who knew her, and that she always supposed Shores to be single. How she and Shores became acquainted no one seems to know. Miss Craig had for a long time been boarding at 2102 Olive street, where she received a number of visits from Shores.

Local Items of Interest Picked Up Here and There.

—The report that Vanderbilt offered $50,000 for the plan of a locomotive capable of pulling a passenger train at the rate of sixty-five miles an hour is denied.

—Generally the modern young man is backward about marrying. Some of them get in love altogether too much. A brakeman on the Ohio and Baltimore road is an example. He had three wives, one at each end and one in the middle of his run; a sort of matrimonial relay station.

—The Missouri Pacific has issued a tariff sheet giving through rates for depots to all the principal points in the Indian Territory. Gibson is the depot for Fort Gibson, Tahlequah, Gincinnati, Evansville and Heywood. Muskogee for Okmulgee, Webster's Falls, Sac and Fox Agency, Wealoka, Fort Gibson, Garfield, Arbektown, Tahlequah, Shawneetown and Wewoka. Atoka for Boggy Depot, Stonewall, Nelson, Sacred Heart, Mission, Sususka, Johnston and Lehigh. Caddo for Fort Sill, Paul's Valley, Tishomingo, Mill Creek, White Bear Hill, Erin Springs, Beef Creek, Shawneetown, Fort Arbuckle and Richard's Station.

Where to see the Great Trotters of New York.

Cincinnati Times-Star.

No two men in America have had more experience with fine trotting stock, and none are better judges than Calvin M. Priest, of the New York Club Stables, 28th street, near Fifth Avenue, and Dan Mace, of the Excelsior Stables, West 20th street, New York, the champion double-team driver of the United States. Both of these gentlemen say, that for painful ailments in horses, such as cuts, bruises, swellings, lameness, stiffness, St. Jacobs Oil is superior to anything they have ever used or heard of. This is also the opinion of Prof. David E. Borge, the celebrated horse-shoer of the metropolis, and thousands of stock-owners throughout the country. As a pain-cure for man and beast, St. Jacobs Oil has no equal. Mr. Priest recites the case of a valuable trotter, so stiff from rheumatism, that he could not move an inch. By one thorough application of St. Jacobs Oil at night, the animal was completely cured, and was fit for the race-track the next day.

SUCCESS ASSURED.

That's What They All Say Regarding the Morning BAZOO.

The following complimentary notices, on the change of the BAZOO from an evening to a morning journal, are certainly appreciated by the manager, and to the respective writers he deems the "old white hat" and returns sincere thanks:

—J. West Goodwin has purchased the telegraphic franchise formerly owned by the Sedalia Dispatch, and will begin at once a new morning newspaper in the Queen City.—Boonville Topic.

—We are in receipt of a card from J. West Goodwin, of the Sedalia BAZOO, saying that on and after the 11th the BAZOO will be changed to a morning paper. Success to the BAZOO.—Nevada Democrat.

—J. West Goodwin has purchased the Associated Press franchise of the late Sedalia Dispatch and will soon commence the publication of a morning paper. No man in the state knows better how to manage the business of a printing office, as his success has demonstrated.—Marshall Democrat.

—A postal card from J. West Goodwin, the "Big Injun" of the Sedalia BAZOO, informs us that he will change the Evening BAZOO to the Morning BAZOO on the 11th of this month. In advance we will just guarantee that it will be one of the spiciest papers in the state, as J. West is noted as one of the best newspaper men in the west. We hope Brother Jonathan will send us the Morning BAZOO, and make his old friend happy.—Paris Appeal.

—On next Sunday the BAZOO will be issued as a morning paper, and issued regularly as such, except on Mondays. Its proprietor purchased of the late Dispatch company their telegraphic franchise, and will furnish full telegraphic reports. The BAZOO is a rattling good evening paper and will no doubt be an equally rattling affair as a morning paper. J. W. G., its boss, has all the "git up and snap" to him necessary to keep things moving in whatever line he selects to travel.—Clinton Advocate.

—J. West Goodwin, the enterprising proprietor of the BAZOO, of Sedalia, has bought the Associated Press franchise of the Sedalia Dispatch, and will commence at once the publication of a morning paper in that city. He has the field and every possible facility, coupled with the enterprise and push to insure success, and we bespeak the new coming morning bird to soon be a flyer and a lightning striker. Success to the "Big Injun." Maj. J. N. Edwards is out in a very urgent and strong card of endorsement, and we hope to see signs of the Major's powerful pen in its columns.—Boonville Advertiser.

—Better be wise by the misfortunes of others than by your own. Take warning in time. Avoid quack nostrums by which thousands annually perish. Use only such remedies as are demonstrated above suspicion, foremost among which is Kidney-Wort. For torpid liver, bowels or kidneys, no other remedy equals it. It is sold in both dry and liquid forms by all druggists.
